TRADE AT FOOCHOW. THE report on Trade for 1868 of Mr Sinclair, H. M. Consul at Foochow, contains some interesting remarks. He notes a marked improvement in the importation of foreign goods, especially cotton and woollen manufactures, in the local consumption of which there is a satisfactory increase over 1867 and still more over 1866. The same remarks "apply with equal force to metals of British production, such as Iron Rod and Lead the former for nail-making, and the latter for linings of tea chests in the teagrowing districts." With this brief allusion to the satisfactory nature of the tradal prospects of the port we would draw special attention to his remarks upon the import of cotton and woollen goods as dependant upon their quality. The question is very constantly asked how it happens that, in a country consuming such an immense quantity of manufactured cotton goods, the demand should be so comparatively small-for such it is, when the vast population is taken into account. Two answers are furnished by Mr Sinclair, as follows:-1-The sale of Cotton goods can never be very extensive in this Province, so long sa the Lekin exactions or war-taxes remain in force at the numerous inland barriers; indeed, it may almost be said that British manufactures do not reach beyond the adjacent districts, excepting in exceedingly small quantities, owing to the above-named girchmetance. 2-The Nankeen stuffs of native manufacture, of which a large supply finds in way into this port annually, from Shangha and Tientain, compete advantageously with British cottons. They are generally preferred by the working classes, who are the cotton wearing population, on account of the stronger and warmer texture of the Nankeens and their greater durability.

We do not think that the first reason is at all adequate to account for the comparatively small use of British Cotton goods. If the majority of natives in Foochow itself used them, and it was merely in the country parts that they were but little availed of, it would hold good But what is the fact ! Not only in Foochow but in Hongkong, where import or Lekin duties are unknown, mine natives out of ten wear native oction manufactures Mr Nankeons as stronger lasting than ours. It is absurd to a that we cannot, if we are of every tate the native respect. EXTRACTS FROM BEVIEWS (From the "Straits Times," July 27, 1868. Some time ago we had occasion to remark ipon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Hongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Notes monthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known nameake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, manners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. It says a good deal for the extent and tability of the footing of Europeans in China, that such a publication as this should be established and conducted with pparently successful vigour. The publication is altogether a very inceresting one, and wishing it every success. we commend it to the attention and support f our readers.

From the "Rriend of India," June 4, 1868.) We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the numbers for the current year of "Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of Ching and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the " Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the est Chinese scholars in the East. Its inlerest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in oriental antiquities. It deserves to be better

This really useful volume ["Treaty Ports of China and Jepan "] is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with wking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao. has been carefully compiled and edited by Mr N. B. Dennya; and the elaborate mans and plans, with which the work abounds, considerably enhance its value. * * We have thus given in outline some of he more prominent cortions of the chapter divoted to Canton; as a specimen of the whole volume. Other chapters treating of Macao, Formosa, Ningpo, Shanghae, and the remainder of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. The pages describing Peking, the capital, are so interesting, and contain so much that is new to Kuropean readers respecting its history, public buildings, and general characteristics, that we HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT. where each boat will be given a cartificate would fain transfer them to our columns.
